Robert Ellis will represent Plano before the Executive Board of the North Central Texas Council of Governments this week when those officials consider the Draft Environmental Impact Statement (DEIS) on Richardson Municipal Airport. Ellis and others have developed maps and charts which dispute some findings in the DEIS. He is particularly concerned with the noise levels which can be expected over residential neighborhoods. Ellis maintains that noise levels would increase two to 16 times if the airport is expanded as proposed. (Staff photo by Mike Newman).

Liquor Proposal 'On Back Burner'

Council Delays Major Items

BY PAM TROBOY

Three of the five major items up for City Council consideration Monday night have been held for further study. Special hearings on a revenue increase for General Telephone Co. and an anti-loitering ordinance have been slated while an ordinance regulating the sale of alcoholic beverages has been "put on the back burner."

The 1976-77 operating budget and tax rate and a fourth resolution opposing the location of the Richardson Municipal Airport

(RMA) were approved unanimously. The proposed sale of alcoholic beverages apparently drew the most interest as many spectators left as soon as the council agreed to "think it over."

Terming the Chamber of Commerce proposal worthy of consideration, Mayor Norman Whitsitt said the council will take it under advisement to think over the problem and look at the approach needed.

Wes Newell, president of the chamber, had proposed an ordinance patterned after the Richardson law be adopted in Plano. He said such an ordinance would control the sale of alcohol both through private clubs and in the event of a wet-dry referendum.

The chamber Board of Directors fears that current city policy is not adequate for long range planning. Newell added. He said the availability of private club permits could aid in recruiting fine restaurants and motels.

"The chamber has had no specific requests for help in obtaining private clubs," Newell admitted. "However, an ordinance would alleviate the uncertainty in the event some business chose to move to Plano."

Ellis to represent the city before the North Central Texas Council of Governments Executive Board Wednesday.

The board will deliberate on possible comments on a Draft Environmental Impact Statement (DEIS) for the airport.

Ellis showed the council some slides prepared by himself and other experts which indicate that maps in the DEIS are inaccurate. He maintains that Plano residents would suffer noise levels two to 16 times greater than at present if the airport were built.

Also approved were a $6.8 million general operating fund budget and a $3.3 million water and sewer fund budget. Taxes were increased 12 cents to fund operating expenses.

The 87 cent rate is still one of the lowest effective tax rates in the state, City Manager David Griffin told the council. This year, he said, code enforcement and solid waste fees will be increased to make the two city departments self-sufficient.

Griffin pointed out that 62 new posts have been created, 21 to man Three Fire Station and a new aerial ladder truck which should be delivered in early 1977. Eleven sworn officers and five civilians will also be added to the Police Dept. with the remainder of new employees scattered throughout the city.

In other action, the city gratefully accepted 18,277 acres of park land from W. Lee Moore Jr. Moore donated the property which is adjacent to Shawnee Trail. The expanded park area is north of Barron Elementary.

Ordinances setting a time limit of 30 days on appeals of zoning cases and setting fees for emergency wrecker service were also approved. Normal towing charges start at $15 with vehicles involved in accidents towed for $20.

The council also authorized oversize payments of $11,845.80 to Baker-Crow Co. and $23,341.47 to Melvin Jackson. Texas Bitulithic Co. won the low bid of $20,489.20 for paving improvements to the warehouse storage lot.

Oaths of office were also administered to Ted Hornick (Library Board) and Ernest Reich III (Civil Defense Director).

County Approves Revenue Report

Close to $400,000 in federal revenue sharing funds has been spent in Collin County during the past year, and the Commissioners Court gave their official approval Monday morning to a report detailing where the funds went.

According to the federal Actual Use Report, $124,132 was spent to purchase road equipment by the various precincts, under the heading of public transportation, while $132,417 was spent under the heading of general governmental operations for the purchase of punchcard voting machines.

Two other expenditures were noted in the report—$127,470 spent on revaluation of all taxable property in the county, and $4500 spent for operation and maintenance of the County Firemen's Assn.—funds which for the most part are allocated to city fire departments in the county for fighting county fires.

Approval of the report was one of but two action items on the commissioners' agenda Monday, with the other being the approval of Elaine Pickett as a deputy tax assessor.

Mayor Harold Bacchus of Frisco sent Frisco Fire Chief Randy Barton, however, who asked the county for more money to pay for fighting rural fires. Since the county does not have a fire department, it pays city fire departments a monthly sum to provide firefighting services to county areas.

Bacchus earlier had won approval of rural residents in the Frisco area to request additional funds for maintenance of city firefighting equipment which is used to fight county fires.

The Frisco City Council had voted to discontinue firefighting activities outside the city limits if additional help is not received from the county.

After discussing the matter with Barton, County Judge Nathan E. White Jr. stated he would be in favor of a meeting between city and fire department personnel from all county towns to discuss the matter, determine whether or not a problem exists, and if so, recommend equitable solutions.

White then asked Barton—later repeating the same request to Mayor Bacchus by telephone—to provide the Commissioners Court with firefighting operational costs for the past 12 months. White explained that he wanted to know what it costs to operate the Frisco Fire Dept., as well as the additional costs involved in fighting rural fires.

"Of course, we're not going to sit back and wait for the information to come in," Judge White stated. "We really would like to know what the situation is county-wide, and we plan to do some more checking and see if there is a better way to handle the situation."

For PISD's First Day

Enrollment Nears 16,400

Almost 16,400 students returned to the classrooms in the Plano Independent School District Monday.

In grades K-12, the students immediately turned to the basics—reading name lists and class schedules to find where their classrooms were; writing names on school supplies and bookcovers; and counting out lunch money.

And in Wanda White's third grade classroom at Sigler Elementary the students' first lesson of the new year was as basic as learning how to fold up the paper sack they brought their school supplies in.

Throughout the 20 schools in the district, instruction began immediately on a day that principals and secretaries described as smooth an opening day as they had experienced.

Monday's opening total of 16,390 represented a 935-student increase over last May's ending total of 15,455 and was some 2,000 students more than last August's first day figure of 14,350. Elementary students accounted for 8,716 of the first day total with the remaining 7,674 students being in the secondary schools.

School officials expect Monday's opening total to increase steadily throughout the next few weeks.

Plano is growing so rapidly, Chamber of Commerce President Wes Newell told council members Monday night, that an ordinance governing the sale of alcoholic beverages is necessary to protect both residents and businessmen. He said an ordinance allowing the sale in only specific areas could prevent a situation like that in Denton. He did not elaborate on his point, but Denton recently voted wet in a referendum and persons wishing to sell alcohol may do so in any part of the city. (Staff photo by Mike Newman).

Police Report On Mischief

Criminal mischief was widespread in Plano this weekend.

A Plano Police Dept. spokesman said 15 separate reports were received, none of them serious. Officers also took 10 theft reports.

In other action, officers investigated eight motor vehicle, two residential and one coin operated machine burglaries, took a report of an indecent exposure and investigated an assault.

Four persons were arrested including one for public intoxication, one for violation of curfew, one on a Dallas County warrant for bad checks and one for no drivers license.

Officers answered 177 calls for assistance during the three day period and investigated six accidents.

One Garland driver was involved in two minor mishaps within minutes. Police said George Edward Fields first struck a 1975 Oldsmobile owned by Stephen Michael Kleinsmith of 1100 Pioneer on 15th St. about 65 feet west of Avenue K and then struck a 1973 Oldsmobile owned by Donna Kay Saunders of Allen a few feet west.

Damage to the two Oldsmobiles which were both parked at the time of the accidents and Fields' 1955 Chevrolet was minor.

Also on Saturday at 7:35 p.m. a 1973 Dodge driven by Patricia Barclay Blann of 2124 Parkhaven and a 1967 Chevrolet driven by Lee Edna Brooks Jones of 1101A Avenue I were in collision at the intersection of 15th and US 75.

A 1971 Datsun driven by Frank Harris Jewell III of Dallas and a 1975 Plymouth driven by Janet Vanpool Murrell of Bedford were in collision at 5:40 p.m. Sunday.

Also on Sunday, at 5:25 p.m. Sharron Washburn of 936 Springcreek lost control of her 1968 Oldsmobile on Springcreek about 2 miles west of the US 75 frontage road.

Neighborhood Effort

Dean Sherry, one of the neighborhood leaders in creating a special playground at Big Lake Park, near Christie Elementary School, stands by some of the playground equipment which is being purchased and installed by neighborhood residents, with the help of the Plano Parks and Recreation Dept. and the Plano Fire Dept. In addition to the neighborhood donating time and money to the project, area residents also designed and planned the playground, which is expected to be completed sometime in September. Additional photos can be found on Page 3 of today's edition of the Daily Star-Courier. (Staff photo by Mike Newman).

Firefighters Busy With Minor Fires

Plano firefighters extinguished several minor blazes this weekend.

The department put out three grass fires, according to Fire Marshal Bill Threet. The small fires were located near the intersection of Springcreek and Ranier (6:07 p.m. Sunday), in the median of US 75 north of FM 544 (5:03 p.m. Monday) and in a field south of the 7-11 at Park and Jupiter (5:40 p.m. Monday).

Trash fires were also reported on Saturday at 7:07 p.m. at the intersection of 18th and Jupiter, on Monday at 7:04 a.m. behind McDonald's and on Sunday at 12:19 p.m. at the Mobil Station at FM 544 and Preston.

The department also made six ambulance runs and rendered seven miscellaneous services.

Disabilities Overcome

Students Not Handicapped

By MICHAEL SCOTT-BLAIR
Copley News Service

For some people, sign language is their native tongue. For others, vibrations through the fingers replace sounds through the ears, or wheel chairs fulfill the function of feet.

But those people are not handicapped. There are no such things as handicapped people — just handicapped environments, environments unable to meet the needs of some people that just happen to be a little different.

That's the view from the wheel chair, the perspective of the blind, the voice of the speechless, the perception of the deaf.

And for decades they have been pushed indoors, given welfare, provided with a television set and told not to be a bother — but no more.

"The utterly unjust stigma of being handicapped; the attitude which causes people to shy away from the disabled, 'for fear I might catch it,' is being broken down slowly but surely," said Steve Fasteau of El Camino College, resident of the California Association of Post-Secondary Educators of the Disabled (CAPED).

The biggest battle has been for a change in the attitudes of "normal" people, sav specialist educators.

A recent survey of students asking if they would date a handicapped person, sit in a class with one, "expect an intelligent answer if you asked them a question," revealed that the regular population needed educating about the handicapped, Fasteau said.

Faculty people did not want handicapped people in their classes, especially the trade and vocational classes.

Mrs. Beverley J. McKee, district coordinator for handicapped programs in a California Community College District, told of an auto repair instructor who could not understand how a deaf person could learn to repair transmissions because hearing was important on the job.

"He forgot that sound is only another form of vibration and the deaf person's fingertips were just as sensitive to those vibrations as the ears of the person who had hearing. The deaf person made an outstanding transmission repairman," she said.

"Traditionally we have told the handicapped people what is good for them and they have had to accept that and be grateful for it," said Fasteau.

"Now they have their own voice. They show us how our simple and convenient world of steps and sidewalks is a combat course to them, and they are being heard," he said.

But the greatest cruelty, the grossest error, is the usual person's assumption that to be physically handicapped automatically means that a person is mentally handicapped, the teachers and administrators said.

"Many a needle-sharp mind rides in a wheel chair, looks at the world through immensely thick glasses or experiences life through a paralyzed body," said one instructor.

But the attitudes of other people have kept those minds isolated. The handicapped who were in college five years ago went immediately home after their classes. They never joined in campus activities.

Crenna Discusses Role

Comedy Could Be Controversial

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Richard Crenna, a polished dramatic actor in movies, returns to television this fall in a new Norman Lear situation comedy series dealing with double controversy.

"All's Fair" is a May December love story compounded by politics.

Both subjects have been pretty much taboo in television's first quarter century.

Political humor has been treated gingerly, if at all. Romance between a 49-year-old man and a 23-year-old girl hasn't been touched at all.

A decade ago Crenna starred for two years in "Slattery's People," a drama in which he played a state senator.

"In this show I play a politically super-conservative columnist," he said, "and Bernadette Peters is my liberal photographer."

"Politics is a ripe area for comedy stories, as the past few years in Washington have proved. The difficulty with a political series is that television can't deal with it on a personal level."

"I don't recall any situation comedy series based on politics except 'The Governor and J.J.' with Dan Dailey. But that was really a domestic comedy and had very little to do with politics."

"For some reason the field is unexplored. Bob Hope's monologues are filled with political jokes. And God knows politics has been a basis for humor since the first government was formed."

"There's a universality about politicians. Even the Iron Curtain countries base a lot of their humor on their leaders."

"Dramatically, a real legislator has to be working at his job, not on the streets where the excitement is. That was a problem with 'Slattery.'"

"Politicians aren't involved in life and death situations that sustain drama. Cops, lawyers and doctors are popular because they're always personally involved. As a columnist my character is able to get into more action."

"But newsmen, except in something like 'All The President's Men,' which had a hell of a story, don't make good heroes either. They're mostly observers."

"That's why the love story element of our show is so important. And there's a freshness to it because of the difference in our ages."

"The idea for a series based on an older man and a young girl hasn't been tried before because television was afraid of the idea. It's a controversial situation. But we make it work."

Crenna said the political jokes give equal time to Republicans and Democrats, conservatives and liberals.

A tall, handsome man who began his acting career in radio at age 11, Crenna established himself in the radio version of "Our Miss Brooks" and continued in his role of Walter Denton when the series went to television.

After six seasons starring with Walter Brennan in "The Real McCoys," he turned to straight dramatic acting in "Slattery's People" and a dozen movies.

In the past decade Crenna has been offered more series than he can count. Some of them became tremendous hits. Others never got past the pilot.

"I have no regrets about being selective, turning down shows that succeeded," he said. "I've made pictures in Spain, England, Italy and Taiwan. I took my family along with me on all the locations."

"Those trips were fantastic. Priceless. If I'd been in a series it wouldn't have been possible to enjoy so much time with Penni (his wife) and the kids (Richard, 17, and Maria, 11).

"I decided to take this show because the kids are at an age now where it would be unfair to take them out of school, away from their friends and Richard's sports activities."

"There were other reasons for doing 'All's Fair.' It was time for me to throw a rock in the water. Make some waves."

"This is a half-hour show that takes only six months a year. I'm free the rest of the time to be with my family or to take them with me on a movie locations during the summer."

"Then there's Norman Lear's track record for hits. A lot of good pilots are made but only a handful of good series. Any successful series needs to be surrounded by strong creative forces. Lear has a lot of quality people who know what they're doing."

Bit Parts: Newscaster Howard K. Smith will play himself in Columbia's "Close Encounters of the Third Kind." ... Rob (All In The Family) Reiner has been added to the cast of "Fire Sale" ... Tina Louise plays a prison guard in "Nightmare" for ABC-TV.

A Different Drummer

This society of ours! It's so advanced we have to have three types of taxation just to keep up with government:

Direct taxation—the old-fashioned way as on incomes, sales, death and gifts.

Indirect taxation—as in inflation which goes up as the dollar goes down.

And regulation taxation—as in the cost of government controls, rules, regulations and redtape.

All three take the money right out of your pocket.

Take regulation taxation. It increases the cost of production, raises the price of the product, and forces you to pay more for what you buy. Call it whatever you wish—it's still a tax. And, a tax is a tax is a tax.

Consider this: in 1974, folks who bought made-in-USA cars were forced to pay an extra $3 billion for the buzzers and beepers and safety beautes mandated by the federal government. At least 40 percent of the buyers found ways to disconnect or short-circuit those gadgets. But, the extra $3 billion was taken from the consumer's pocket. That is taxation by regulation.

It is safe to say that at least one-tenth of our total gross national product goes for the expense of government rules, regulations, redtape and whatever widgets are mandated to comply with whatever laws. One-tenth! That's more than $100 billion!

If you think that's exaggeration, mark this: just the payroll costs, just for the federal forms back here, come to $3 billion. That's just the payroll, just for federal government and only for the regulatory agencies!

There are more than 5,000 different types of federal forms. Not including tax or banking forms. The Exxon company spends about 112 man-years annually to wrestle with its federal forms. That comes to $3.5 million a year. Who pays the $3.5 million? The consumer does, in the price of Exxon's products.

All told, American business spends 130 million man hours a year messing with federal paperwork. At $4 an hour, that's $520 million—half a billion—for shuffling papers. And you pick up the tab. You and the rest of the consumers.

Sure, some government regulation is necessary. But, it is time to weigh the cost of such regulation and control against the public benefits achieved. It is time to get rid of those regulations and those regulatory bureaus that cost more than they are worth.

In other words, what's needed most right now is control of the controllers!

TEXAS 1876

AUSTIN—Both houses of the Legislature this week passed a bill to appropriate $40,000 to complete the Agricultural and Mechanical College at Bryan. Debate in the House was extensive. One of the most influential arguments for passage was the necessity of refunding $150,000 to the federal government if the entire sum of $40,000 was not appropriated.

AUSTIN—The condition between Castroville and Eagle Pass is critical, according to Captain McNelly, who arrived here Monday with prisoners he arrested in Atascosa County. More than a hundred outlaws from different sections have invaded it and hold the reins of power. The law is trampled upon and civil officers are powerless. The County Judge of Maverick does not dare to sleep in his own house. King Fisher's band take property from citizens in daylight, and they dare not resist or attempt to recover it.

COMANCHE COUNTY—Threshing is going actively on. Mr. J. B. Green, formerly of Waco, has a threshing machine which averages 350 bushels per day.

CORPUS CHRISTI—Since the first of January there have been 7,393 bags of wool shipped from Corpus Christi, weighing 1,494,063 pounds. Wool dealers in town say the amount of wool on hand and unshipped totals 519,577 pounds. Actual receipts total 2,013,640 pounds. It is estimated that not more than two thirds of the spring clip has been received here.

HILL COUNTY—There was a strong prejudice and a very general desire that the death penalty be dealt to a man named Ferrel who was found guilty of murder in the second degree and sentenced to the penitentiary for 25 years. Had he killed Scroggins, whom he no doubt intended to kill, nobody would have cared greatly, but his killing a woman caused the most intense indignation.

SAN ANTONIO—The latest thing out is a twenty-cent coin. The size is so near that of a two-bit piece that one can barely detect the difference. We can't understand why they were gotten up. Certainly not to facilitate in making change, for there are dimes and half-dimes for that purpose. The issuance of this new coin will be annoying to all, bankers in particular.

SAN ANTONIO—Calico is extremely cheap in San Antonio, 25 yards to the dollar, and merchants use it in place of brown paper for wrapping purposes.

ADVERTISEMENTS—G. Caen's - French Dyeing and Scouring - Established in 1874. All kinds of gentlemen's and ladies wearing apparel dyed in all colors. Gent's clothing scoured and pressed on one day's notice. Lace and lace curtains done up equal to new.

For MDA Benefit

Special Dance Set

Over 40 square dance clubs from Northeast Texas, including Plano's Jeans and Queens Club, will be "dancing for those who can't" in a Square Dance Marathon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA).

The 27 continuous hours of dancing will begin at 8 p.m. Friday through 11 p.m. Saturday at Texas Hall on the UTA campus in Arlington.

Proceeds from club-sponsored events, including sales, contributions and raffles will be given to MDA. Dancers are also raising money through pledges for every hour they dance in the marathon. The club donating the most money receives the MDA banner, and will appear on the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon on KXAS-TV, Channel 5.

There will be prizes and awards for those who dance each and every tip during the 27 hours of dancing. A street dance is also being planned for the "wee" morning hours.

National three-time fiddler champion Vernon Solomon will perform with the Grapevine Opry Band led by Jess Hudson to kick off the Marathon at 8 p.m. Friday night. They will be followed by a host of entertainers and personalities, including Grapevine Opry performers Bruce Chelhell, Joey Floyd, Boxcar Willie, Wayne Harris, John Kirby, Pam Paul, Bill King, David Murphy, Lee Beach and her band, the Davis Brothers, Karen Glover and many others, through Saturday night. The event is open to the public for a $1 donation to MDA.

"We square dancers have for years sat in front of our T.V.'s on Labor Day watching Jerry Lewis and thousands of people do their thing for Muscular Dystrophy," said Durwood Bolding, Square Dance Marathon chairman and member of the Glenn's Gadabouts Club. "This year square dancers will have an opportunity to do their part for this worthwhile cause."

President Picked For Luminator

Robert G. Thesing has been appointed president of the Luminator division of Gulton Industries Inc., it was announced by E. Maclin Roby, group vice president of Gulton Industries.

Thesing replaces O.A. Lively who resigned to pursue other business interests.

Thesing joined Gulton in 1973 as president of Gulton's Southern States subsidiary and has recently been elected corporate vice president of the parent company. He had been general manager of the Electronics and Mirror Insulation division of Diamond Power, a subsidiary of Babcock & Wilcox Inc. in Lancaster, Ohio. Prior to that, he had been plant manager with Crown Zellerbach Corp. in Newark, Dela. He holds an M.E. degree from the University of Cincinnati and completed the executive management program at Emory University Graduate School of Business.

Replacing Thesing as president of Southern States, will be Thomas W. McGarity who has been vice president of finance for that division. Previously, McGarity was vice president of finance for the Luminator division. Toasting salvages day-old doughnuts

By Polly Cramer

Inflation Fighter

DEAR POLLY — Dried out or day old doughnuts can be salvaged by cutting lengthwise through the doughnut and placing crust side down on a cookie sheet. Lightly spread butter on top and place under the broiler until lightly toasted. This not only warms the doughnut but seems to add to the flavor. — J.M.

DEAR POLLY — I concoct a very effective underarm deodorant that is especially good to use when camping or doing outdoor work, since it does not attract insects like some of the sweet smelling ones. It is so economical, too. Dissolve equal amounts of petroleum jelly, corn starch and baking soda in the top of a double boiler. Store in a jar with a tight fitting lid. — DOROTHY F.

DEAR POLLY — Many of us have trouble keeping outdoor dishes for pets, but I have discovered an old glass casserole dish makes a good one. Dogs will not carry off a heavy glass dish.

Long dresses are worn so much now and I needed a full length slip, so I cut off the elastic top on an older half slip. I sewed this cut edge to the bottom of an old knee length slip and had a quick and inexpensive solution to my problem, in no time and for no money. — D.F.

DEAR POLLY — I have found that a long half slip can be made out of a pair of old pajamas. Cut the inside seam from the bottom of one hem to the bottom of the other leg. Turn the openings to the sides and then cut off the part that was in the stride. Sew down a short way on each side, leaving the rest open. In no time you have a slip with a hem already in the bottom and elastic at the waist. Hope this helps someone else, too. — OZIA.

DEAR POLLY — Many people enjoy the luxury of having frozen pancake mix that they can just thaw and pour. I, too, enjoy this luxury, but at a much more modest cost than those who buy theirs frozen. I buy the "complete" pancake mix that only requires the addition of water. I prepare the entire box at one time and then divide it into empty waxed milk cartons and freeze.

After emptying freezer bags that have held vegetables, I reuse them as sandwich bags for my husband's lunch. — SANDRA

DEAR POLLY — When using my soaker hose, I slip a length of bicycle inner tube over the sections that would water places I do not want watered, such as across sidewalks or beside my neighbor's automobile. This saves that extra water being used where it is not needed or wanted. — GEORGE.

DEAR POLLY — Add a little oil and vinegar to that last bit of catsup in the bottle, shake well and have a French dressing for your next salad. — D.H.

Polly will send you one of her "peachy" thank-you cards, ideal for framing or placing in your family scrapbook, if she uses your favorite Pointer, Peeve or Problem in her column. Write Polly's Pointers in care of this newspaper.

H&K Meets Hunter's Needs

O.J. Howell Jr. of H&K displays a compound bow available. H&K carries a wide range of Bear Archery equipment including the compound bow, regular recurve bow plus wood, fiberglass and aluminum hunting and target arrows. (Staff photo by Ed Voss).

Hunting season for dove and deer is just around the corner and the place to go for all the supplies that will be needed is H&K Hunting-Fishing-Camping Supplies in the Prairie Creek Shopping Center, 2963 West 15th Street.

H&K is Plano's only fully equipped sporting goods store which specializes in the outdoors.

Dove season will begin Sept. 1 and for the hunter,

H&K offers a wide selection of camouflage clothing, the new "Cool Stool" for storage, plus shotguns, shells and reloading equipment.

A wide selection of only the best brand name shotguns are offered by H&K, including Remington, Winchester, Ithaca, Baretta and Nikko.

And, as a special for the Dove season, H&K is offering several bargains to local customers such as a Coleman cooler and jog combination for $24.95, a regular $29.95 item.

H&K is also offering the Utaca Model 37 shotgun for sale at $139.99, a regular at $189.95. Also offered is the lifetime guaranteed Ithaca Model 51 which normally sells for $289.95 but on sale at H&K for $215.99.

To get completely ready for the dove season, H&K is offering a cleaning special through Aug. 31 where they will clean and check all shotguns for $9.50 excluding parts. H&K will also clean and checkout rifles plus bore sight with scope models for $9.50.

For late dove hunters, H&K will remain open late on Aug. 30-31 until 8 p.m. Licenses will be available as will the special bargains and regular items.

Deer season is close at hand and H&K offers all the supplies needed such as down clothing, WigWam wool socks, sleeping bags, camping supplies, ammunition, reloading equipment, Gerber knives and hunting boots.

For those that need a new rifle for deer season, which opens Nov. 15, H&K offers Remington, Winchester, Sako, Savage, Marlin and Ruger.

For the bow and arrow hunter, H&K offers a myriad of Bear Archery supplies including wood, fiberglass and aluminum arrows plus standard recurve and compound bows. All the accessories for hunting or target shooting is offered also.

H&K is open six days a week from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays and Saturday and on Thursdays from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. And don't forget the special late nights on Aug. 30-31 for hunters.

Murray Takes Silver

Plano Student Second In Judo At Jr. Olympics

Jeffrey Murray of 28 Toole Drive, a freshman at Williams High School, won a silver medal Saturday at the National Junior Olympics at Memphis State University in Tennessee.

YMCA Sports

Signups Continue

Football and soccer registration at the Plano YMCA is currently in the last week. Signups will end at 12-noon, Saturday, Aug. 28.

The football program is offered to members and non-members for grades three through seven. Soccer is offered to first and second grade boys, and first through fourth grade girls.

The YMCA football program is structured so that all boys play in every game, according to Richard Tucker, sports director.

"Participation is the key to good experiences in YMCA football and the learning process is strongly emphasized," Tucker said.

Six-man football is played by third graders, eight-man football for fourth graders, and traditional 11-man football is played by the fifth, sixth and seventh grades.

"This stairstep approach to learning football gives the boy a greater opportunity to learn the fundamentals of football in their earlier years, and there are fewer boys on each team which makes for a better working ratio of players to coaches," Tucker said.

According to Tucker, the last week of registration is important because boys must sign up at the earliest possible date to insure being placed on a team from their school.

Boys who played on a team in 1975 may return to that same team if requested but

Murray, a member of Plano YMCA Judo Team, lost only one match - to Robert Berland of Chicago, Ill. Berland is the current National 14-year old light-weight champion. Murray recently finished fourth in the United States Judo Association's National Championship as a 13-year old.

Both boys competed in the intermediate boys class (13-14 year old) 100-115 lb.

Competition numbered 2500 athletes in 10 sports in the three-day affair. To qualify for the meet, the participants had to place first in both district and regional championships.

Murray won gold medals in the Southwestern District Championships at Denton and won another gold in the Region IX Championships at Houston. There are 16 Amateur Athletic Union regionals in the United States and all 16 were represented in the Memphis meet.

Berland, the gold medalist in Murray's class, has been a five time National Junior Champion but this was his first Junior Olympic National Championship.

Murray hopes to compete for Williams High on the wrestling squad and has been working out with his brother, John, who is also a judo participant and wrestler. He spent a month in the summer working out with amateur wrestling champion Steve Matulac of Menlo Park, Calif.

Two other Dallas area judo players won medals in the Junior Olympics, David Tamura of Dallas and David Nikirk of Fort Worth, both bronzes.

Fee for both soccer and football is $6 for Y-members and $16 for non-members. Fee is payable at the YMCA Office, 2601 Glencliff (behind Vines High School). Uniforms are not included in fees.

Coaches, Officials Needed

Richard Tucker, sports director at the Plano YMCA, urges anyone wishing to coach or officiate YMCA sports to contact him at the YMCA Office before Saturday, Aug. 28.

Coaches are needed for boys football in the Freshmen League (third grade), Sophomore League (fourth grade), Junior League (fifth grade) and the All-Star League (sixth and seventh grades).

Coaches are also needed for YMCA soccer in the boys first and second grade and girls third and fourth grades.

Football officials are needed in all leagues.

"Young men of Senior classification in high school or college-age young men are desired to fill such positions and they should apply at the YMCA Office, 2601 Glencliff," Tucker said.

"Those persons unable to come by the YMCA Office can contact me at 424-8567 to confirm a desire to coach or officiate," Tucker added.

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — The Green Bay Packers Monday cut five players and deactivated three players, including quarterback Don Milan and linebacker Jim Carter.

The Packers cut running back Terry Wells, defensive end Drew Taylor, linebacker Tom Hull and wide receivers Ron Mayo and Nat Hawkins.

A spokesman said the team would have to release three more players by Tuesday, the day all National Football League teams are required to have no more than 49 players.

The third player deactivated for two games or 16 days was safety Jim Burrow. The Packers also said wide receiver Gerald Tinker was placed on the injured reserve list.

Jaworski To Start

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Chuck Knox said Monday last year's No. 2 quarterback Ron Jaworski will start for the Los Angeles Rams against the Buffalo Bills Saturday night, followed by two quarters of play by the team's top-rated signal caller, James Harris.

Knox also placed free safety Bill Simpson on the inactive list. Simpson suffered a sprained knee during practice last week and was forced to miss Saturday's game against the Oakland Raiders.

PYSA Registers 233

Plano Youth Soccer Association began signups Saturday at Palisades Square. PYSA registered 233 boys and girls between the ages of six and 15 years for their fall soccer program. PYSA is expecting 800 participants in their program and signups will end Aug. 28. Signups are being taken weekdays from 4 to 6 p.m. and on Saturday, Aug. 28 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. (Staff photo by Mike Newman).

In Ruling

By JAMES R. CAMPBELL
OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — The University of Oklahoma does not have to comply with a new NCAA limit on the size of coaching staffs, a state district judge has ruled.

District Judge Charles L. Owens Monday issued a temporary injunction barring the NCAA from requiring Oklahoma to trim its coaching staff. The ruling applies only to Oklahoma but NCAA attorney James Fellers said he was concerned "members throughout the country may head for the courthouses." Alabama is the only other major power to challenge the NCAA rule, which required Division I members to carry only eight full-time assistant football coaches by Aug. 1. That case is in federal court in Alabama.

Oklahoma now has 10 full-time assistants. "If the NCAA can dictate the number of coaches that a member institution may employ, then what is to prevent that association from fixing the maximum salaries of those coaches, or fixing the maximum number of steaks which a university may serve its athletes per week?" Owens asked in a 13-page order.

"Bylaw 12-1 contravenes the very essence of that most fundamental public policy of this state and nation which has ordained that ours shall be a system of free enterprise, a system that permits individuals, and institutions, to reach for what is commonly referred to as the 'American Dream.'"

Barry Switzer, coach of the national champion Sooners, was elated.

"I'm very happy, although this is just one step and we could lose in higher court," he said.

He said he could not guess what effect the ruling might have nationally, although about 47 Division I schools had been over the limit.

Athletic Director Wade Walker said requiring a school to trim veteran staff members is "like losing a member of your family."

Judge Favors OU

Scott, Brewers Top Texas

By MIKE RABUN
UPI Sports Writer
ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI) — George Scott may or may not be happy in Milwaukee.

But whatever his disposition at any other time, he is clearly in a nasty frame of mind when he steps up to the plate against the Texas

Rangers. Scott's 13th homer of the year and two doubles triggered a 6-1 Brewers victory over Texas Monday and continued Milwaukee's would-be surge to escape last place in the American League East.

Scott is under contract this year and is expected to sign for next season as well with the Brewers, but earlier this year he was quoted as saying he wished to be traded.

"George never said that to me," said Milwaukee manager Alex Grammas. "I don't think George meant that."

"I'm sure George is discouraged about the team not winning as much as he would like it to. But I think he likes this ballclub and I think he likes Milwaukee."

After a slow start this season Scott has boosted his batting average above .270 and with his three RBI Monday he now has knocked in 61 runs this season.

He slashed a two-run homer in the first inning and after Charlie Moore had walked in the third Scott doubled him home.

Scott doubled again in the seventh to ignite a two-run Milwaukee inning that wrapped up the win for starter Ed Rodriguez.

Rodriguez, normally a long reliever, started only his eighth game of the year and lasted 7 1/2 innings in maintaining a perfect 4-0 career record against the Rangers, who have won only 14 games since the all-star break.

Grammas said Scott's name came up often during the hectic trading period that accompanied last winter's major league meetings.

"But we're not about to trade him unless we could get equal value for him," Grammas said.

Buccaneers

Cut Roaches

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — The Tampa Bay Buccaneers placed four players on waivers Monday, including kickoff and punt return specialist Carl Roaches, a 14th-round draft choice out of Texas A&M.

Also placed on waivers as the Bucs trimmed their roster to 58 were linebacker Steve Colavito, wide receiver Kent Gaydos and running back Alan Pittman.

He said he could not guess what effect the ruling might have nationally, although about 47 Division I schools had been over the limit.

Athletic Director Wade Walker said requiring a school to trim veteran staff members is "like losing a member of your family."
